TO THE TAXPayers OF BENZIE COUNTY:

This directory has been prepared so that you can directly contact most governmental officials and departments in Benzie County. It includes names and numbers of officials in the twelve townships and one city as well as those in the six villages.

We believe it will be of assistance to those in business, the media, and governmental units, when making contacts with public officials. Benzie County has a reputation for fiscal responsibility and the quality of service it provides to the general public.

We are proud of our reputation and will continue to search for new ways to improve our record of service and responsibility to you, the taxpayer. This directory is one way we have to make government more easily accessible to you.

Benzie County is the smallest county in Michigan and has an estimated 2010 population of 17,525. It consists of 319.7 square miles and is governed by a seven-member Board of Commissioners.

We hope this directory will be useful. Be assured that Benzie County Government has, as its objectives, a determination to look for better ways to serve the public as well as ways to build a strong community on a foundation of equality, honesty, and fairness to all.

BENZIE COUNTY

Modern settlement of Benzie County was begun at Benzonia in 1857 by a group intent on founding a Christian college or university in the western wilderness. The Indians called the principal river of the county the Unszigozbee, meaning “Saw Bill” or “Merganser Duck” river. French voyagers translated this into Riviere aux Bec Scies, which Yankee newcomers corrupted to “Betsie River”. Benzonia is a composite name from Latin and Greek. “Bene” is Latin for good, and “Zonia” is Greek for place. The name “Benzonia” would seem to indicate “a good place to live”.

Unique geological aspects of Benzie County are the depressions of Crystal Lake, the Platte Lakes, the Herring Lakes and their accompanying glacial moraines and outwash plains and the hinge line of Michigan (the point at which the glacial uplift begins) which lies just south of the Frankfort/Elberta area. The dune areas along the shoreline of Lake Michigan offer unique examples of plant life succession for the amateur botanist.

Tourism and fruit farming provide the chief income in this area which lies in the heart of Michigan’s cherry growing region. The resorts in the County are many and varied, including motels, hotels, cabins and camping areas for tents and trailers. Every town has many accommodations available. The county also has a very modern hospital and medical care facility, both located in the City of Frankfort.

Benzie County boasts probably the most modern, best equipped fish rearing facility in the world. This is Michigan’s Platte River Fish Hatchery, located five miles east of Honor, which produces Coho, Chinook and Steelhead in abundance. The Platte River furnishes some of the Midwest’s greatest Trout fishing as well.

There are 54 named lakes in Benzie County and numerous smaller ones, Crystal Lake being the largest. Lake Michigan has beautiful sandy beaches which stretch for 25 miles along the Benzie shoreline. The Sleeping Bear Dunes National Lakeshore Park extends from Benzie north into Leelanau County. This area also includes the Platte River campgrounds and the Lake Township Park at the mouth of the Platte River.

Trailer parks are available in Beulah, Benzonia and Frankfort. Canoeing is a popular pastime on the beautiful Platte and Betsie Rivers.

Forested areas in Benzie County cover 136,200 acres of the total land area. Better than half of the County is located within the designated boundaries of the Betsie River State Forest. Although only 56,000 acres of that area are actually in state ownership, this does account for the large areas in the eastern two-thirds of the County which are heavily forested and virtually uninhabited.

Ice fishing, snowmobiling, cross-country and downhill skiing are among the favorite winter sports in the area. Benzie is a blaze of color in the fall and attracts as many color enthusiasts as sports hunters. Hikers and skiers enjoy the many miles of marked and unmarked trails throughout the Benzie County area.

Inspiration Point, nine miles south of Elberta on M-22, is one of Lake Michigan’s most beautiful scenic turnouts and provides a spectacular view of the shore and bluffs for many miles.

Point Betsie Lighthouse, on M-22 north of Frankfort, is a favorite subject for artists, many of whom make their homes in Benzie County. Both Beulah and Frankfort hold annual Arts & Crafts fairs in the summer months, and Honor holds the annual National Coho Festival around Labor Day weekend. Soaring and hang gliding have been important in Benzie County since World War II. Benzie is the smallest County in Michigan, having only 223,187 acres of 319.7 square miles of land with 63,337 being state-owned acres and 11,111 National Park Service acres. There are six villages and one city in Benzie County. Lake Ann is the smallest incorporated village and Frankfort is the only city.

HISTORICALLY

1851 By an act approved April 7th, Grand Traverse County was organized. Previously this was part of Mackinaw and was called Omena.

1856 Grand Traverse County was enlarged to include Benzie and Leelanau Counties.

1858 Charles Bailey and his colonizing group selected a spot in Northern Michigan not far from the new settlement of Traverse City. To this spot they attached the name of Benzonia, settled on even before the site itself was chosen.

1859 Township of Crystal Lake in Grand Traverse County included all of what is now Benzie County.

1863 County of Benzie formed and attached to Grand Traverse County for civic and municipal purposes.

1869 The Legislature passed an act to organize Benzie County on March 30.

1872 A canal was dug from Crystal Lake to the Betsie River, opening the lake for shipping from Lake Michigan. This lowered the lake so much it was dammed to stop the flow.

1888 Charles Bailey subdivided and plotted “Crystal City and Beulah View Resort”. His house still stands across from the old courthouse on land exposed when the lake was lowered.

1889 July 4 – Frankfort & Southeastern Railroad runs first train through Beulah to Frankfort (the Ann Arbor Railroad since 1892).

1899 Beulah became official name after being used interchangeably with Crystal City for Railroad depot (also post office earlier).

1911 Large Pavilion, called the New Grand, opened in Beulah and was acquired by the Village of Beulah in 1916 for County Courthouse and used for the purpose until 1976.

- 1872 - 1895  Benzonia
- 1895 – 1908  Benzonia
